

A photograph of three women standing outdoors in a mountainous region of Peru. They are wearing traditional wide-brimmed straw hats with red bands, colorful patterned shawls, and white aprons. Each woman is wearing a different style of face mask: one is red with a colorful border, another is multi-colored striped, and the third is also multi-colored striped. They are looking towards the right of the frame. The background features a clear blue sky, power lines, and snow-capped mountains under a bright sun.
