

Survival programme in Slovenia

Slovenia has nature and sport deeply rooted in Slovenian culture. Slovenians are crazy about running, hiking in the mountains, skiing and are very fond of adrenaline sports. They are very connected with nature – not surprising for a nation that lives in a country where 70 % of the landscape is covered by forest. That makes Slovenia a perfect destination for survival programme in the nature – feel the forests, feel the adrenaline and spend a night with your team in the tents.

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

Survival programme is perfect for active, sporty groups, that love to be challenged. In small groups (8-10 people) each group will be accompanied with a map, compass and details of survival programme. They will connect with each other and learn how to survive in the nature.

Survival activities: making a fire without a lighter, crossing the river, opening and cleaning the trout, grilling the trout for the lunch, finding the arc, passing the mud surviving park, saving an injured person, climbing, abseiling the rock, mountain biking ...

Optional: CSR elements (building mountain bikes for underprivileged children) / treasure hunt (tailor-made length and difficulty).

Safety: each group has a professional guide present at all times and safety is our first priority.

Programme length: 1½ day – 2 days

Group size: up to 150 people (split in groups of 8-10)
