Peniche is a coastal town an hour's drive north of Lisbon. Peniche was an island until the sixteenth century, when silt created a narrow isthmus.

This town and the sea are inseparable. It is one of the largest traditional fishing ports in Portugal and a major Atlantic hub for water activities.

The Nature Reserve on the Island of Berlengas is a boat ride away. Its translucent waters are ideal for divers, who will find here a natural sanctuary for sea flora and fauna.

It's only natural that the sea dominates the local cuisine, so you mustn't leave Peniche without tasting the bouillabaisse, the seafood rice or the charcoal-grilled sardines, always accompanied by the Western region's wines.

Don't miss:

-Before heading to the beach, your visit to Peniche must include a walk through the historic centre. Besides the Nossa Senhora dos Remédios Sanctuary, the São Pedro and Misericórdia Churches, the Peniche Fort is a must-see.

-Nazaré, 45 min driving from Peniche, a very popular surfing destination because of its very high breaking waves that form due to the presence of the underwater Nazaré canyon. Numerous surfing records have been set at Nazaré. In 2011, surfer Garret McNamara, who resided in Hawaii at that time, surfed a then record-breaking giant wave: 23.8 m (78 ft) at Praia do Norte in Nazaré. The best time of the year to see those huge waves is between November and February.
